Remote Learning Lesson 6

ENTURY

WACKY WORDY

In today's lesson, you will be focusing on the Victory Gardens that were created during WWII and how small acts of cooperation can change the atmosphere of a nation.

Essential questions:

How have times of conflict and times of cooperation built our country?

How can small acts of cooperation change the atmosphere of a nation?

HOOK

- In 1942, when America was at war, Americans were faced with the rationing of food. First coffee and sugar were rationed followed by other items which included gasoline, rubber, meat, shoes and more.

Today we are facing a pandemic that is beginning to limit products from our stores and our availability to items.

Let's discuss!

What impact have you and your family felt?
What items do you miss or are hard to find?

Independent research

You are going create a map of a garden that you could “plant” and use over the next several months.
What would you include in that garden that would be beneficial to your family and neighbors?

What are you going to do?

1. Begin with doing some research, complete the questions on the next two slides, then design your backyard gardening plot.

For research use:

*garden books or magazines

Independent
work

Draw a garden layout/diagram for your backyard. You may draw it or create it in PowerPoint.

Be creative!
Think about your backyard!

What do I turn in? A Victory Garden map/layout/design

How long should it take me?

70 minutes

IF it is taking longer than 70 minutes,

please contact your TAG teacher

Take a picture and share it with your TAG teacher through Office 365 or Seesaw.
Be sure to put your name on all assignments 😊
